Caleb M. Turner is a litigator who focuses on complex business and commercial litigation. He has represented both plaintiffs and defendants in a variety of complex state and federal civil actions, including actions for breach of contract, common law fraud, negligent misrepresentation, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of restrictive covenants, securities fraud, civil RICO, civil antitrust, and other claims.

In addition, Mr. Turner has extensive experience conducting internal investigations and defending clients in regulatory and white collar criminal matters, including Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, anti-money laundering, Bank Secrecy Act, mail and wire fraud, criminal conspiracy, and antitrust and trade regulation matters.

Prior to joining Meyer, Unkovic & Scott in 2016, Mr. Turner was a litigation associate at a multinational law firm in New York, New York. During law school, Mr. Turner served as a judicial intern to the Honorable Alfred V. Covello of the United States District Court for the District of Connecticut.
